

TeleMED Press Release

TeleMED Prioritizes Quality Management with New Software Features

TeleMED Diagnostic Management Inc. (TeleMED) is proud to announce the ongoing development of QUALITYflo, a web-based Quality Management and Peer Review suite of tools designed specifically to address the need for greater efficiency and efficacy in ECG quality management.

QUALITYflo offers functionality for detecting technical inadequacy in all three stages of ECG processing – the pre-analytic, the analytic and the post-analytic stages. While QUALITYflo provides tools for identifying inadequate test quality after the fact, users will also be pleased by features that are available for detecting inadequacies in real-time.

Stephen Chernoff, Director of Marketing & Sales, commented, “The launch of QUALITYflo will be the culmination of a truly collaborative process between TeleMED and the healthcare providers with whom we partner. The transparency in our relationship with our partners made it possible for us to identify the role that our technology could play in supporting their quality assurance programs. Most of the features incorporated into QUALITYflo originated with these providers and we are delighted with the level of enthusiasm with which they respond when we show them how we are turning their ideas into reality. Their willingness to invest their time in testing and providing feedback will mean that they will have a product that will be effective in improving patient care, increasing productivity and reducing costs.”

About TeleMED

Since its incorporation in 2000, TeleMED has been a pioneer in telehealth technology solutions for the management of ECG and other vital-sign tests. Each year, medical laboratories use TeleMED technology to process over 1 million tests, at over 700 locations across Canada. TeleMED’s cost-effective solutions accelerate test-processing cycles by days, relieve clinicians from the burden of administrative tasks and improve the precision and integrity of test data. Headquartered in Ontario, TeleMED maintains offices in Toronto, Vancouver and Edmonton.
